SARATOGA SPRINGS HIGH SCHOOL
SARATOGA SPRINGS, NEW YORK

Loved and greatly respected as a friend and educator throughout the community, Miss Doherty was held in the highest esteem by her students and colleagues. Their devotion to her was surpassed only by her devotion to them. To all, she was a teacher in the art of living. In the hope that some day we may prove ourselves worthy of her immeasurable efforts on our behalf, we dedicate the Recorder 1967 to Miss M. Helen Doherty.

"I still believe that individual freedom is the most important thing in the world and I am willing to die defending that idea."

Pfc. DENTON W. CROCKER, JR.

June 3, 1947—June 4, 1966

Killed in action in Vietnam

FOREWORD

A student's value to his school is measured by his contributions in the classroom and in extracurricular activities. The fear of accepting obligations because of the supposed restrictions they place on one's personal freedom is a selfish attitude. The young man on the opposite page was not afraid to get involved. Denton rendered the maximum service to his cause—he gave his life for his country. Many of you have shared his selfless attitude by your involvement in school functions. We have tried to illustrate this involvement in the Recorder 1967

faculty

The faculty members are integral parts of school life. As teachers they patiently help students develop some of the skills necessary for later life. In addition, they act as coaches for our athletic teams, chaperones at dances, and advisers for clubs. Without their help the many extracurricular activities would not be possible, for their time and energy are as necessary as student participation. Because of their interest and efforts in school activities, they are examples of the well-rounded citizens our educational system encourages us to become. The faculty's deep involvement in school makes it an interesting and rewarding place for students to continue their education.

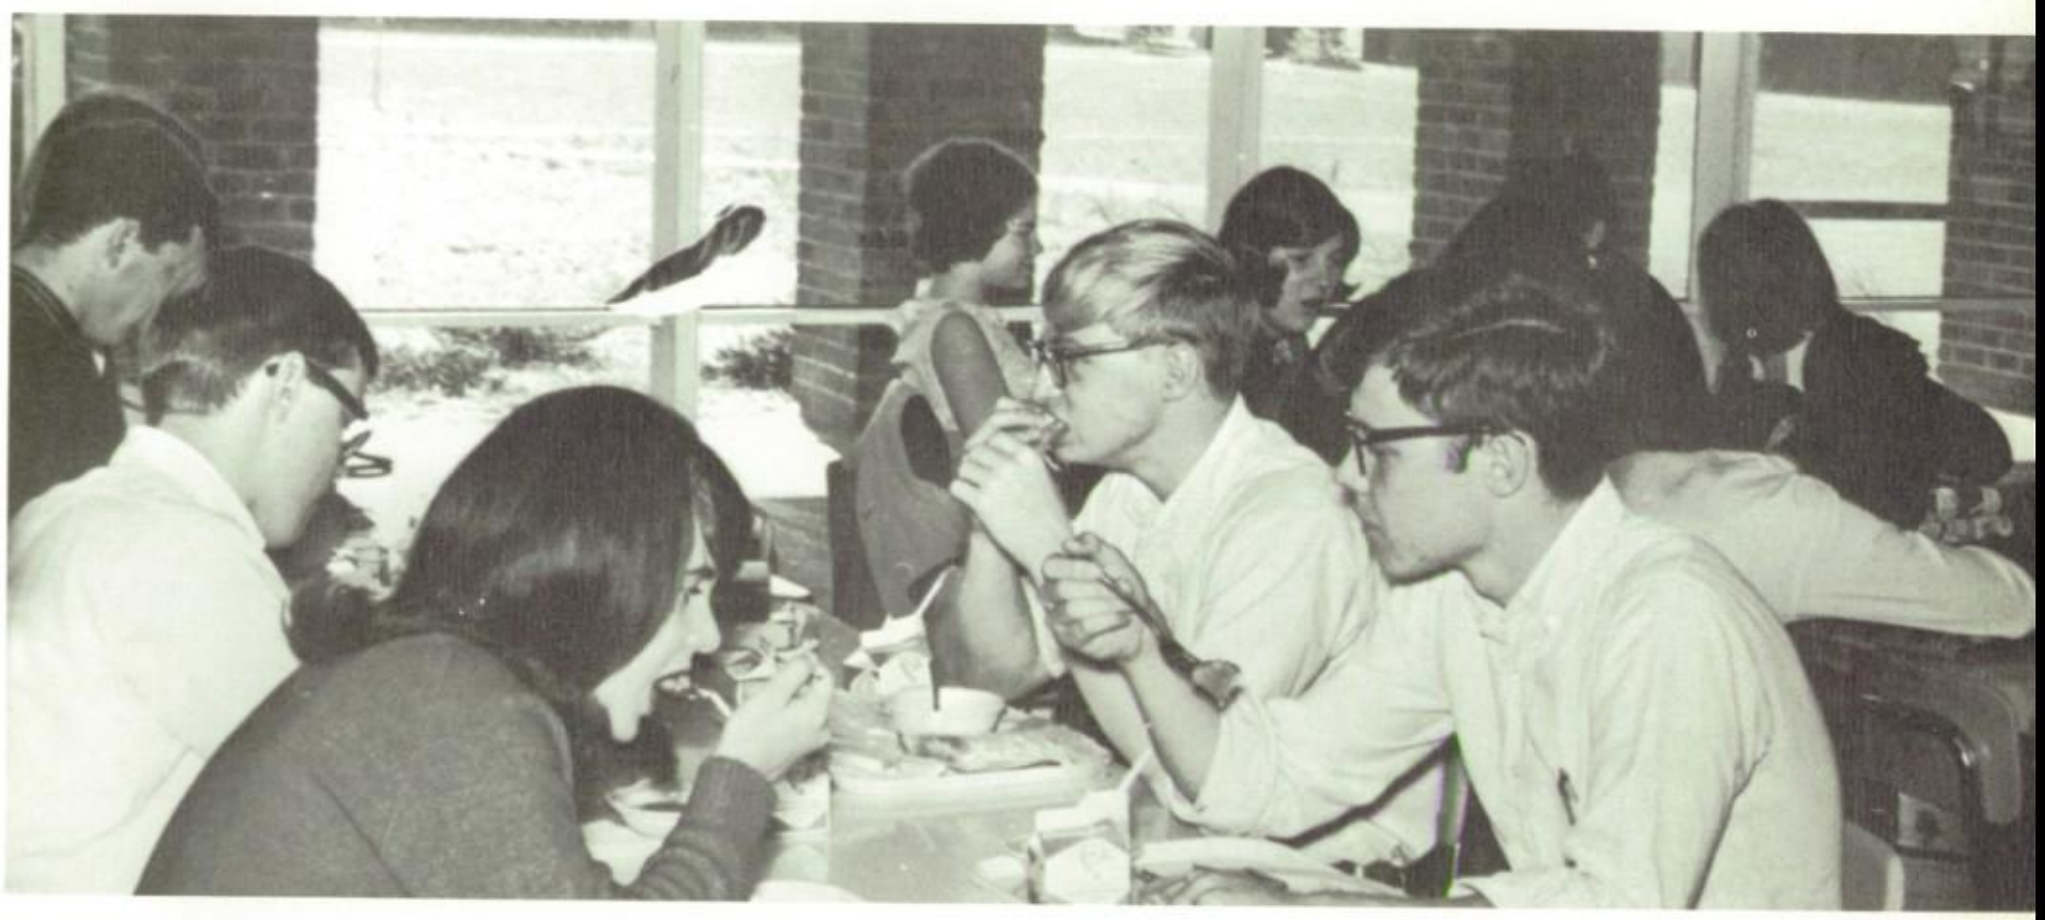
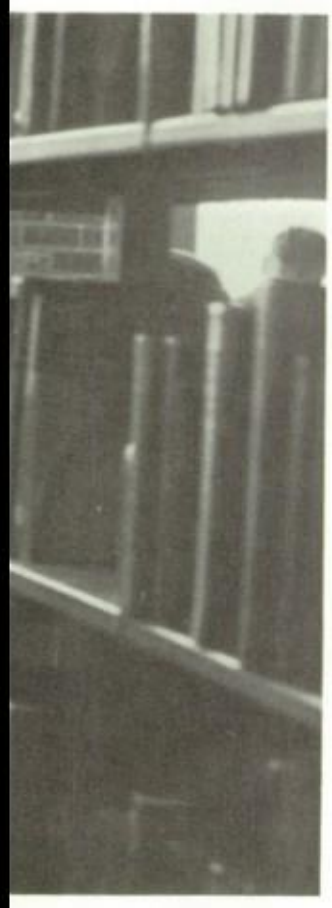
seniors





Necessarily, seniors are involved. They are involved with classes, activities, sports, jobs, college, careers, and the exciting world about them. No longer can they be mere onlookers. Now, they must realize that ahead of them lie many problems and decisions that they alone can solve, as well as much fun and leisure they will enjoy. Through individual awareness of the importance of these experiences, seniors can and will become interested and involved persons.

What is there behind the class of 1967 of Saratoga Springs High School that has made it enthusiastically and energetically survive its four years and finally, more or less sanely, reach the point of graduation?

First, and probably the most important, is our four year class advisor, Mrs. Carey. In recognizing an important long-term responsibility, she willingly has given time, energy, and ideas to guide, and even push us when it was needed, from our frosh year in 1963 through this year of 1967.

Secondly come the officers and elected homeroom representative bodies. These members of our class chose and executed all class projects, including the yearly dances, 3-year stationery sale, car wash, and the WPTR Good-Guy game. Also this year they were responsible for initiating senior class privileges.

Thirdly are all those members of the class who served on the many committees necessary to such an organization, and all those who, if not directly, indirectly supported class projects and functions. This vital group, the backbone of any class, was reliable and came through strongly every year.

The Recorder on behalf of the seniors would like to sincerely thank the many parents, teachers, and administrators in addition to our advisors, Mrs. Carey and Mr. Bell, who have made possible any successes that we have achieved.

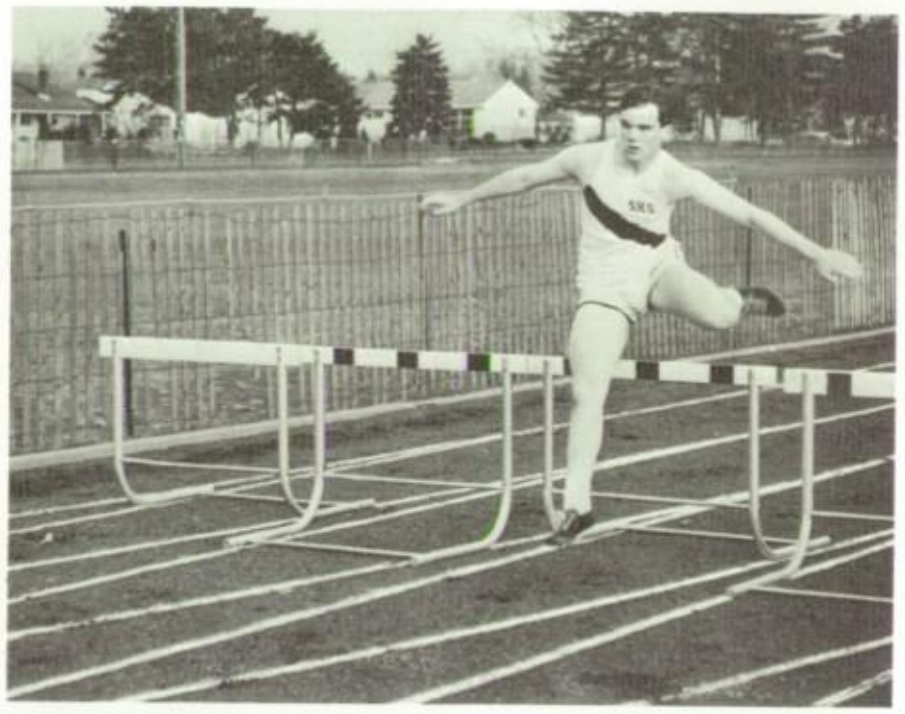
It's been up there five minutes. Think we ought to get a ladder?

Is it alive?

Say it, don't spray it!

Cheer up, Bill, Barb won't be too mad.



Shoot—You're faded.

underclass

The underclassman is deeply involved in the life of the school. This involvement, results from such common-place, day-to-day activities as passing from class to class, hurried moments at a locker, and doing homework. He forms the backbone of school life, not only because the freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes together have the greatest number of students in them, but because it is they who take the greatest interest in school life. There will be moments spent in these three important years that the student will never forget. His involvement in high school shall have a lasting effect on his future for it is here that the decisions that form his personality and bend the path of his life are made.

activities

The many extracurricular activities found at S.S.H.S. are the result of involvement beyond mere participation in the classroom. Students and teachers coordinate their efforts in striving for a wider use of the knowledge they have obtained. Involvement not only helps one to satisfy his own curiosities, but also to serve others in the school and community. Without the involvement that is pictured in this section of the Recorder, a valuable part of a student's education at S.S.H.S. would be lost. By participation in school activities, one can enrich his life with wider interests and a better understanding of working with people.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

For the first time in our school, S.S.H.S. sponsored an A.F.S. weekend. Nov. 4-5, 1966, A.F.S. students and their American brothers and sisters from area schools were entertained and entertaining during the two days' activities. Much credit for the success of this weekend is due to Judy Glassman, whose initiative made the whole program possible.

FRENCH CLUB

This year, it is particularly appropriate to think again of all that Miss Ruth Johnson has done for our high school as a language teacher. Perhaps her greatest contribution was the founding of the French Club, which has enjoyed great success under her guidance. Its success may be attributed to Miss Johnson's tireless dedication to her students and to her remarkable patience and thoughtfulness. On behalf of all her deeply appreciative students, we would like to recognize Miss Johnson's vast contributions to the lives of her students and our high school.

The musical organizations provide a valuable aesthetic program for S. S. H. S. students, and also play a major role in promoting school spirit. During games and pep rallies, our band keeps the spirit alive. The chorus and orchestra add dignity to graduation exercises, as they did at the dedication of our new school.

FOOTBALL

Led by high morale and school spirit, the ever-fighting Blue Streaks put forth top effort in all of their encounters. Particularly noteworthy were the snapping of Albany Academy's 19-game winning streak and in a defensive struggle, the near upset of Gloversville, top-ranked in the Capital District. The Streaks closed the season with a big win for the Seniors by edging Amsterdam in the final three minutes.

GIRLS' SPORTS CLUB

As always, the GSC had a prosperous year by participating in many of the playdays held both here and at surrounding schools. The senior members, who achieved high ranking by participating in a number of the intramurals held for the past four years, were awarded their blazers at the Awards Assembly held in November. During football and basketball season, the girls were busy selling refreshments at the home games. Highlights of the year were the GSC-sponsored Football and Basketball Hops.

WRESTLING

This year saw Coach Decker's wrestling team much improved, despite being hampered by ineligibility. An increased interest, shown by a greater turnout, lead to the formation of a J.V. squad under Coach McCrossen, thus giving an opportunity for more experience in the future.

BASKETBALL

Coach Palmer's second season was marked by much improvement. Still, lack of height weakened the Streaks' board strength and prevented a ball controlling game. However, Saratoga topped more evenly sized opponents by fine shooting and the aggressive defense which our hoop mentor has instilled.

VARSITY CHEERLEADING

The problem of raising school spirit faced the cheerleaders at the beginning of the year. Starting right in with pep rallies and signs during football season, they helped to improve attendance at games and support by students 100%. The girls did not quit with the end of football season; the basketball season was ahead. Their efforts were continued in order to maintain a standard of good sportsmanship and school spirit with the aid of their adviser, Miss Swerbel. Needless to say, their work was appreciated by all.

Their prayers were answered!

No Strings!

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV cheerleaders must also be commended for the fine work done to improve the school spirit this year. It was their job to get the crowd cheering to support the varsity girls on the floor. We were unable to include the new JV cheerleaders picked during the year, but they must be congratulated on a job well done.

FIELD HOCKEY

The Girl's Sports Club hosted the field hockey playday this year. Hundreds of girls from surrounding schools, such as Ballston, Burnt Hills, Scotia, and Shenendehowa, participated. It was a round-robin type of tournament with each school playing at least three games. Our girls didn't quite win, but they had fun, anyway.

This is what you call using your head.

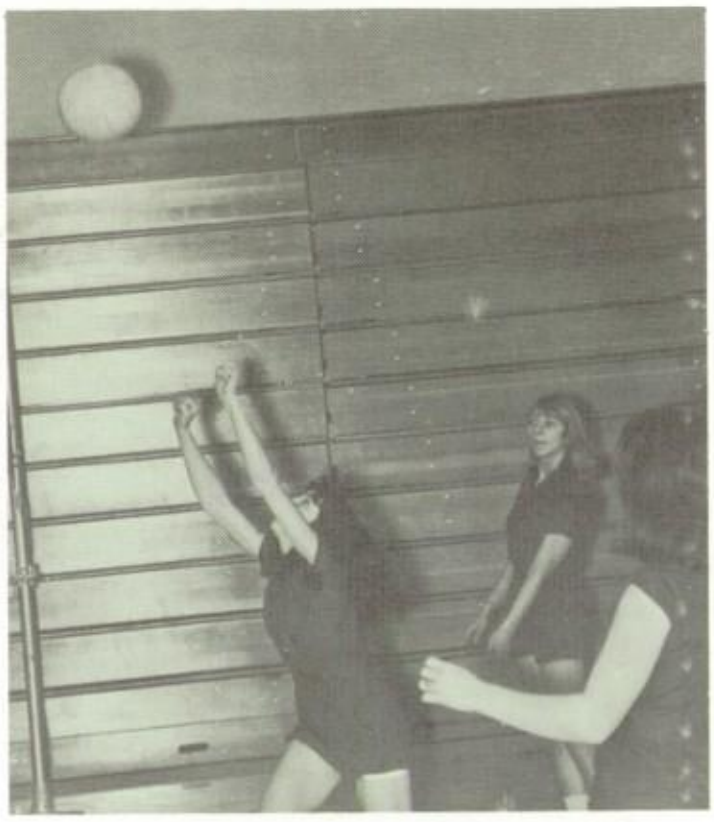
VOLLEYBALL



Volleyball was one of the many sports held after school during the winter. The girls played every Tuesday and Thursday to prepare for the playday at Scotia. Some of the girls played on winning teams and returned with ribbons. Everyone enjoyed competing with girls from other schools.
